

AUGUST 24, 2017

Good Morning,

I hope everyone is taking the back to school transition in stride. Be on the lookout for me as I visit District 1 schools to drop off the remainder of our backpacks and supplies.

On a more serious note, there is some bad weather in the forecast for San Antonio (and the Texas coast) throughout the remainder of the week. I compiled a list of numbers, websites, and resources that can aid you in preparing and managing potential flooding.

The Office of Emergency Management has been activated in response to Tropical Storm Harvey. After the response to the February tornadoes, I have full confidence that the combined response this week will be nothing short of successful.

As a reminder, please call 311 with all non-emergency issues such as traffic light malfunctions, clogged drainage inlets, debris in the road, et cetera. Contact SAPD or SAFD at 911 with all emergencies. If you see a low-water crossing without any barricades or warnings, then please contact the non-emergency number (207-SAPD).

Please do not hesitate to contact my office with any additional questions. Turn around don't drown!

Stay safe,
